

DISASTERS ON LAND AND SEA THAT HAVE HELPED TO CRUSH RUSSIA'S POWER IN THE FAR EAST—VICTORIOUS AND THE DEFEATED GENERALS.

The Six Pictorial Scenes Are Illustrative of the Remarkable Series of Disasters That Have Befallen the Russian Forces Since the Japanese Torpedo Boats Crippled Their Fleet in Port Arthur—The Diagram Shows the Relative Positions of Kuropatkin's and Oyama's Big Armies To-Day.

FEBS
RUSSIAN FLEET ATTACKED
PORT ARTHUR

SINKING OF THE VARIAG AND KORIENTZ
CHEMULPO FEB 8

BATTLE OF THE YALU
MAY 1ST

ELOPING GIRL TO GO TO CONVENT

Priest's Pretty Niece Who Ran Away with Married Man Must Pass Five Years in Seclusion as Punishment.

WIFE REFUSES TO FORGIVE HUSBAND.

He Was Organist of Church and Young Girl Sang in Choir—Man Is Now Under Arrest for Desertion.

The punishment decided upon by the Rev. Emory Hallinger, rector of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, in Passaic, for his pretty niece, Mary Hallinger, aged eighteen, who eloped with David Demosky, the organist of the church and a married man, several weeks ago, is five years in the seclusion of a convent.

The old priest, who broke down at the altar of his church during vespers last night, unable longer to conceal the grief he felt over the disgrace of his niece, was inexorable to-day when the unfortunate girl, the tears streaming from her eyes, fell on her knees before him and begged not to be sent away.

The elopement of Miss Hallinger and Demosky caused a sensation when it became known. The man had a wife and two small children. He was organist of the church and the rector's secretary. The girl had been brought up in the parish house and knew nothing of the world. She sang in the choir of the church, and it was during the long rehearsals, after everybody else had left the church, that Demosky won the girl's love and induced her to elope with him.

The couple took $1500 with them when they went away. Demosky left his wife and children destitute. Father Hallinger was horrified by grief over the elopement. He had brought the girl up from a baby and the shock almost killed him. When he recovered somewhat, he told the case in the hands of the police and two detectives finally located the couple in Bradock, Pa.

They were brought back and taken to the rector's house, where they fell on their knees and begged forgiveness. Demosky was sent away without a word, but he was arrested afterwards for desertion, and to-day was held for examination Tuesday next. The girl was allowed to stay at home but was not to be seen by him. It is probable she will be sent to the convent at Madison, N. J.

Demosky's wife has been supported by the pastor since her husband deserted her. She declares she will not forgive him.

BATTLE OF THE YALU
MAY 1ST

VAN WART GETS LICENSE BACK

Department of Commerce Decides that Slocum's Pilot Had No Share in Responsibility for Burning of Steamboat.

Edward Van Wart, who was employed as pilot on the General Slocum at the time of that ship's disaster, has had his license restored by order of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Van Wart's license, with those of Capt. Van Schaack and other officers of the Slocum, was revoked by the local inspectors after the disaster. Van Wart took an appeal from the decision, and in answer to his appeal has received the following:

"After a careful review of the testimony I am of the opinion that the intent and purpose of the provisions of Section 15, Rule 3, requires the master to see that said provisions are fully complied with. This can be accomplished under the law in two ways—namely, first, by the master calling all hands to quarters and having them carry out the requirements of Section 15; second, by delegating this duty to the mate or the officer next in command, who is authorized by the rule to perform such duty, which act by the mate or officer next in command would relieve the master from attending to this duty in person. The penalty for failure to comply with the provisions of Section 15, Rule 3, is the revocation of the license of the officer in command."

"Therefore, firmly believing that the true meaning of the section referred to imposed this duty upon the master, which duty may be delegated by him to the mate or officer next in command, and that the penalty for non-observance of the duties required is against the officer in command, the next question is, Were you at any time in command of the steamer Gen. Slocum? It appears from the evidence that you, Edward Van Wart, were not in command of the steamer at any time."

"In conclusion I have to decide that you have not violated the provisions of section 15, rule 3, and I hereby revoke the decision of the local inspectors at New York, N. Y., your case, and order your license to be returned to you. This I do under authority vested in me by section 432, U. S. R. S."

REGISTRATION DAY TO-DAY

Register to-day!
Polls will be open from 7 A. M. to 10 P. M.
If you do not register you cannot vote. Register now!

COLDS, HEADACHE, CATARRH

Relieved in 10 Minutes by Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder.

Rev. W. H. Main, pastor of the Baptist Church, Buffalo, gives strong testimony for and is a firm believer in Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. He has tried many kinds of remedies without avail. "After using Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder I was relieved of my cold, headache, and catarrh in ten minutes and will never again suffer from these troubles. It is a wonderful remedy and will relieve any form of head pain in ten minutes and eradicate it."

BATTLE OF THE YALU
MAY 1ST

DUTCH PARROT GOT AN ITALIAN ACCENT

Belonged to an Eighth Avenue Grocer, Escaped a Month Ago and Was Found by a Fruit Vender on the Corner.

Pedestrians who passed the grocery store of Richard Wulfer, at the southeast corner of Eighth Avenue and Thirtieth Street, were amazed to-day to see the portly form of the grocer before a cage containing a large green and red parrot, wringing his hands and exclaiming:

"Polly, for Himmel, sagt, raus mit 'im."

All the reply his pathetic appeal evoked from the bird was: "Socks him wit a stillet," and therefrom depends a touché tale involving the demoralization of a Dutch parrot by Italian surroundings. Dolly Early, Mr. Wulfer's parrot, wandered from his cage over the crack-barrel a month ago. His owner searched the neighborhood for him in vain until yesterday, while passing an Italian fruit stand he was saluted with: "Wulfer, Sir, Wulfer, buya da banana."

The grocer looked up and saw directly above his head the lost Dolly Early swinging meditatively from a string of green peppers. He immediately claimed the bird. When he got the parrot home he was plunged into deep grief at the discovery that there was not a note of Wagner left in Dolly Early's soul and that his rich German accent had been punctured.

"He had such a fine language," said the grocer's boy, Hans Schmeidel, discussing the tragedy to-day, "that the boss refused an offer of $5 for him. He was born in a German brewery and raised in a sauerkraut plant. All day long he would sing 'Der Wacht am Rhein' and whistle 'Der Burgomaster' until the boss got so excited that he'd give him champagne waters. Now he talks like an Italian."

"When the boss says, 'Polly say, 'Du bist reich!'" the boy says, "his long da blacka hand." When Mr. Wulfer asks him to say 'vas ist loss,' all he gets back is 'hota da loss, hota da loss, buya da peach.'"

The parrot seems to have taken to the soft Italian accents with peculiar fervor and to have lost entirely his German vocabulary. Even his taste in food has changed, and where he used to peck at a square of fragrant hamburger with great relish the bird now flutters away from it, screaming: "Calla da under-take, calla da under-take!" Nor will Dolly Early drink beer any more to delight the heart of the grocer and his friends and customers, but when he was a lowed out of his cage last night he was found early to-day swagging about the store, and not far from him lay an empty bottle of champagne, from which he had adroitly drawn the cork. When Mr. Wulfer angrily stowed him back in his cage the bird swung happily from side to side on his perch, mumbling softly, "gotta da stuff, gotta da stuff, wheel losses li da blacka hand." The grocer has been advised by a friend to feed Dolly on nothing but 7 ummerickel and black brot, which should, the friend urges, strain his trail in accent back into its original guttural.

FIELD MARSHAL OYAMA

MRS. LEDERER TO GET HER DIVORCE

Referee in Suit Brought by Theatrical Manager's Wife Decides that Mr. Lederer Was Too Friendly with Actress.

The marital troubles of George W. Lederer, the theatrical manager, and his wife, Adele Rose Lederer, which have been more or less before the public for a little over three years, will end in a victory for Mrs. Lederer should the Supreme Court accept the recommendation of the referee, George W. Hubbell, which has been filed at last.

The referee upholds the contention of the wife, who in her complaint alleges that Mr. Lederer was too friendly with Rene Jordan, an actress who has played with several of the manager's companies. The occasions specified were on the steamboat Chester W. Chapin, on a trip from New York to New Haven on Jan. 12, 1902, and in September of the year before in the Hotel Reynolds, Boston. The referee recommends that the wife have the custody of the child, Matilda Lederer, and that she receive $100 a month alimony. Counsel for Mrs. Lederer, Herman A. Heydt, will move for a confirmation of the report of the referee next Tuesday.

Lederer Threatens to Appeal. Mr. Lederer threatens to carry the case to the higher courts. "Lawyer Heydt says his client is prepared to fight to a finish."

One of the most important witnesses for Mrs. Lederer was Joseph Jordan, a hotel proprietor, who has dabbled in theatricals in the character of a booby in the past. Jordan was "the man behind the gun" with Lederer's productions of "The Wild Rose" and "Sally in Our Alley," and he was near by on several occasions when Mr. Lederer and Miss Jordan are alleged to have been together.

Another witness for the plaintiff was John McCarthy, a porter on the Chester W. Chapin. It was McCarthy's duty to look after bridal suites. He testified that on Jan. 12, 1902, Mr. Jordan engaged two of these suites, one for himself and the other for Mr. Lederer and a friend. McCarthy answered a ring from Lederer's suite and sold a young woman came to the door and asked for a pitcher of ice water.

Jordan's Little Joke. According to McCarthy, Jordan had peculiar Persian ideas of humor. In the morning he piled a lot of life-preservers, stools and tin basins outside of Lederer's door so that when the latter and his company stepped out they fell over them. Jordan and the porter, McCarthy, laughed heartily.

EPISCOPAL DIVORCE CANON AND DEFEATED AMENDMENT

Church Law Ratified by Convention Delegates: A minister of the denomination may perform a marriage ceremony for the innocent party in a divorce suit wherein adultery is alleged.

Proposed Change Forbidding Remarriage Voted Down:

No minister shall solemnize a marriage between any two persons unless by inquiry he shall have satisfied himself if that neither person has been nor is the husband or wife of any other person, then living, from whom he or she has been divorced for any cause arising after marriage.

WEINSEIMER TO GO ON THE STAND

Former Labor Leader Will Testify on Monday in His Own Behalf Against George J. Essig, Boss Plumber.

When the hearing in the trial of Philip Weinseimer for alleged extortion is resumed next Monday it is expected that the defendant will go on the witness-stand on his own behalf. George J. Essig, on whose complaint Weinseimer is being tried, has collapsed and is at his home suffering from nervous headache.

Capt. McElroy, who had heard that Essig had been threatened, invited him to call at the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street station, and sent County Detective Second to escort him. Capt. McElroy offered to detail two policemen to guard Mr. Essig's house, No. 29 Hancock place.

Mr. Essig said he was not afraid and was so scared he would not go out of the house. As a matter of precaution a policeman was ordered to watch the house.

ACCUSED OF STEALING FURS.

Dealer Has Suspected Employee Placed Under Arrest.

Herman Richfield, a Russian, thirty-five years old, of No. 119 St. Mark's place, was arrested to-day for larceny on complaint of his employer, Herman Meistrich, a dealer in furs at No. 31 East Tenth Street.

Two thousand dollars' worth of furs were stolen from the place several nights ago, and Richfield was suspected because he had duplicate keys to the establishment.

When he was arrested to-day the police say that some of the furs were found in his rooms. In the Yorkville Court he was held for trial.

NEW YORK'S HEALTH PRIZE.

City's Exhibit Receives the Award at St. Louis Exposition.

TRIES SUICIDE IN MADISON SQUARE?

Young Man, Homeless and Penniless, Is Found on Bench Suffering from Opium Poisoning—In Hospital Recovering.

Homeless, without a cent to his name and despairing of his prospects for the future, a young man, who gave his name as Joseph R. Jones and his age as twenty-three, took a large dose of opium, and is now at the New York Hospital with a fair chance of recovering. He will probably be arraigned on a charge of attempted suicide to-morrow morning.

A citizen passing through Madison Square at 2 o'clock this morning found the young man on a bench, near the Ferragut statue, in an attitude which made him suspect that there was something wrong with him. He tried to arouse the young man but failed.

The stranger called a policeman who sent him in a call for an ambulance and the young man, who was unconscious, was taken to the New York Hospital.

The doctors ascertained that he had taken a large dose of opium and it required vigorous efforts to revive him. The patient refused to give any information concerning himself, other than his name and age. He admitted that he had neither money nor home. His clothes were of good material and well kept.

PIER RENTAL TOO HIGH.

Allan State Line Abrogates Agreement with City.

The Allan State Line, following the lead of the International Mercantile Marine Company, has instructed Austin Baldwin, the New York agent, to inform the New York Commissioner of Docks that the rental of $10,000 asked for the lease of the pier at West Twentieth Street is the Supreme Court to-day. It bore the signatures of Charles Desches, Otto Mehlend, Fred V. Holz, Henry W. Lambek, Jacob J. Avingard, Fred Reis, William Slavi, Joseph A. Avingard, Oscar Avingard, Edward Avingard, Philip Burgart and Henry C. W. Ackmann.

REGISTRATION DAY TO-DAY

Register to-day!
Polls will be open from 7 A. M. to 10 P. M.
If you do not register you cannot vote. Register now!

MUNYON'S PAW-PAW

I consider my preparation of Paw-Paw the crowning achievement of my life, knowing as I do the great blessings that will surely follow its use.—MUNYON.

TO THE PUBLIC

In presenting Paw-Paw, a natural stomach, heart and nerve tonic, I feel that I have added much to the science of medicine.

The "Standard Dictionary" says: "Paw-Paw is the fruit of a small tropical tree of the passion flower family. The juice of the fruit or leaves has the remarkable property of rendering meat tender."

The "Practical Druggist and Review of Reviews" says: "The juice of the Paw-Paw is more efficacious than pepsin in dissolving albumen. The fruit or juice seems to have the same effect as a good digestive and is most effective in cases of dyspepsia and habitual constipation."

Having combined this wonderful natural remedy with other medicaments, I positively assert that I am giving to the world the greatest stomach, heart and nerve tonic known to mankind.

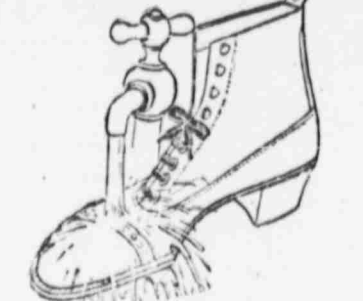

I recognize that a body that is overworked, a system that is run down, requires a stimulant. Alcoholic stimulants lift, but let you fall. Paw-Paw lifts and holds you.

I want every weak and debilitated person to give Paw-Paw a trial. I want every doctor to carefully test this remedy and then honestly tell the public the results.

I want every clergyman, when he feels exhausted, to take Paw-Paw and then tell his friends what he thinks of it. I want every mother to introduce Paw-Paw into her home. It will prove a ready friend in curing and warding off many diseases. I urge upon brain-workers particularly the use of Paw-Paw. It will immediately give tone and energy to the whole nervous system.

I want every teller, merchant, lawyer or clerk who feels the need of a stimulant to step into the nearest drug store and ask for Paw-Paw; he will have no further use for whiskey, beer or other stimulants. I believe that when the public becomes thoroughly familiar with the virtues of Paw-Paw it will not only be used in every home but will be adopted into the United States army and navy, and used in every hospital throughout the civilized world.—J. M. MUNYON.

The Coward Shoe

Water-proof Shoes.

Intended for use without rubbers, impervious to all forms of dampness, the Coward Water-proof Shoe for Fall and Winter wear is unequalled. It fits as perfectly as it protects.

SOLD NOWHERE ELSE.

JAMES S. COWARD,

268-274 Greenwich St., near Warren St., N.Y.